

Mit Migranten für Migranten (With immigrants, for immigrants)

“Mit Migranten für Migranten” (With immigrants, for immigrants) is the motto of the MiMi health project in Rotenburg (Wümme). The objective of the project is to offer multilingual, culturally sensitive health promotion and prevention for immigrants and refugees. Dedicated immigrants are trained in intercultural health mediation so that they can provide information to other people from their home country in their respective language regarding the German healthcare system and other topics relating to health promotion and prevention.

There are already 13 health mediators in Rotenburg (Wümme) who offer informational events on a variety of health-related topics in 5 languages.

If you are interested in a free informational event for a group or otherwise interested in the project, you are welcome to contact:
